Youth on the Land Opportunities

Supporting folks working to connect Indigenous youth to their territories, culture, communities and selves.

The YOLO (Youth On the Land Opportunities) Community is a network of 200+ individuals supporting on-the-land/water opportunities for Indigenous youth across Canada. It includes folks running land-based learning programs through stewardship departments, Indigenous Guardian programs, health centres, schools, child/family services, non-profits, and more.

On-the-land programs make a difference to Indigenous youth

The YOLO Community comes together to support each other in the important work we are doing to nurture the next generation of leaders in our communities. We do this by connecting with each other to share encouragement, information, resources, successes, challenges, and lessons learned. Our offerings include:

Virtual Coffee Hours

Monthly open space to connect with other program Coordinators in an informal setting.

Webinars

Monthly capacity building opportunities to learn about relevant topics and programming.

Newsletters

Quarterly updates with stories from other programs and the latest news & events.

Resources

The latest funding opportunities, templates and tools to help make your work easier.

We are stronger together

Join our growing network of on-the-land program Coordinators and supporters to learn more about our community and access connections, resources, and information designed to help you uplift the next generation of Indigenous leaders.
